

The project partners of Life Prognoses invite you to the

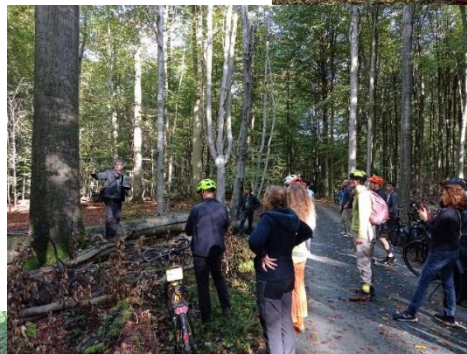

ONLINE WORKSHOP

'Awareness Raising in and about Old-Growth Forests'

1st of December 2023

An inspiring event...

- Creative initiatives presented by the partners of Life Prognoses
- The opportunity to share your own experiences in smaller groups

... hosted by fifteen partners from eight different countries in Europe

Dear partners and supporters of the Life Prognoses project, dear members of the European beech forest family,

We are happy to invite you to the workshop 'Awareness raising in and about old-growth forests'.

The support of the broader public, the local communities, visitors and tourists is crucial to the protection of the forest. To gain this support slowly but surely, we have brought people in contact with the forest in dozens of different ways. Theatre shows, excursions, and school partnerships are only a few examples.

This workshop is an initiative to inspire and connect people who will connect other people with the forest.

PROGRAMME:

From 14.00h to 15.00h we will hear about three different awareness-raising activities: 'What is their main message?', 'How were they organised?', 'What are the advantages of these approaches?' are some of the questions that will be tackled.

The cases we present you are

- Educational excursions organised in Central Balkan National Park
- A virtual reality walk through the protected areas in Abruzzo, Lazio, and Molise National Park
- School partnerships in the forest of Grumsin

From 15.15h to 16.00h we will discuss and exchange about awareness raising: which kind of activities would be interesting to organise in our forests? Which messages are important? Which target groups are difficult to reach?

We are looking forward to seeing and hearing you there!
